

TWO MEN RIVALS FOR ASQUITH'S POSITION
SIR EDWARD GRAY AND DAVID LLOYD-GEORGE CONSIDERED FOR PREMIERSHIP.

COUNCIL HAS MEETING
King George Presides at Session and Approves Address to Be Read to Parliament Tomorrow.

London, Feb. 13.—The retirement of Herbert Asquith from the premiership to the House of Lords has been rumoured for some time. David Lloyd-George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Edward Gray are supposed to be rivals for the position of the prime minister's mantle. Mr. Lloyd-George has cleared an exceptionally good position as the author of a comprehensive program of social reforms that he has been considered as the most promising candidate for the position.

King at Council.
King George presided this morning at a meeting of the privy council, the first that has been held since his arrival from India. The King approved of the speech from the throne which is to be read at the opening of parliament tomorrow.

Plead Not Guilty Before Judge Kersten—District Attorney Asks Death Penalty.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The four men accused of the murder of Mrs. Hattie Kaufman were scheduled to go on trial today before Judge Kersten in the criminal court. The defendants are: Geo. "Doc" Sullivan, John Stacey, Fred Hendon, and Wm. Shanahan. All have pleaded not guilty. The state attorney has announced that the death penalty will be asked in each case. Lawyers have been appointed by the court to defend the prisoners.

PLANS TO REBUILD IN COMING SPRING
Albert Higgins of the Town of Harmony Whose Home Was Destroyed Thanks Neighbors for Kindness.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—A clever ruse has been called to the attention of the police by Tony Gatto who conducts a saloon on the West Side. Gatto's brother was in the charge of the place today when a man carrying a bundle under his arm walked into the place and after saying a few words went into the wash room at the end of the saloon. In a few minutes he shouted to the bar tender, "Somebody has been playing a trick on you, the wash bowl is stuffed up with saw dust and if you don't clear it out the room will be flooded." Gatto himself cleared out the bowl and in the mean time two men, who were carrying a bundle, entered the saloon and robbed the cash register of $360.

TRIAL OF PACKERS IS RESUMED TODAY
Lester of Swift and Company, Spends Fourth Day on Witness Stand.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The trial of the ten Chicago packers, charged with maintaining a combination in restraint of trade, was resumed today after a three day recess. Lester Lee, assistant manager of Swift and Company, beef department, began his fourth day on the witness stand. Lester testified that he had been in the Chicago office of Swift and Company's eastern representative in the summer of 1910, when the government declared that the volume of shipments and selling prices of dressed beef were fixed by the east and margin system. The testimony indicates that the shipments to that market were curtailed.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS STILL UNSETTLED; NOT TO INTERFERE
Reports of Fighting From Various Cities—United States Remains Friendly With Government.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 13.—When the United States District court conveyed this morning Attorney Bacon for the plaintiff asked Amador for a court order requiring that the man who asserts he is Geo. A. Kimmel, the central figure in the mystery insurance case be produced in court. The hearing is in the second week. The order was based on the statement that the four expert eye specialists who examined the claimant yesterday should have him in court while they are giving their testimony and illustrate their findings by demonstration on the subject. In this way court hopes to get an expert statement to the jury as to whether the claimant is the man who disappeared from Kansas City, Kansas in 1909 and on whose life an insurance company of New York has refused to pay $5,000. The company contends that Kimmel is still alive.

Clarence Doud Taken On Charge of Being Implicated in McNamara Dynamite Conspiracy.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Clarence Doud, of Mandeville, Ill., alleged to be implicated in the McNamara dynamite conspiracy was arrested here this afternoon by Deputy U. S. Marshall Norman. Doud was taken to jail awaiting a hearing.

FREEDOM IS SOUGHT BY BANKER'S VALET
Solk E. Brandt Committed to Prison for Burglary Gets Writ of Habeas Corpus.

New York, Feb. 13.—Solk E. Brandt, former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff, the banker, was brought down to the city this morning from Sing Sing prison to appear before Justice Gerald of the Superior Court on a writ of habeas corpus brought out to determine whether or not the valet had been illegally sent to Clinton prison for burglary in the first degree, been illegally sent to Clinton prison yesterday and taken to Sing Sing where he spent the night. He is prepared to offer a disclaimer of the writ of habeas corpus and to ask for a delay of the decision so that Governor Dix may review the case again. That Brandt will appear before Judge Rosinsky this afternoon in order that counsel may ask for a new trial was problematical.

CALLS FOR SPEAKERS ON FIRE PREVENTION WORK
State Fire Marshal's Office Has Received Requests for Speakers.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 13.—The state fire marshal's department has been receiving numerous requests for speakers on fire prevention subjects. It furnished two who made addresses at the fire prevention banquet at Milwaukee recently under the auspices of the Credit Men's association. Judge J. E. Florin, superintendent of the inspection branch of the fire marshal's department, will give an address on this and kindred subjects at Friendship, Adams county, where he will also assist in the organization of a fire department that will measure up to the local standard in equipment.

STRIKE IS PROGRAM OF BRITISH MINERS
200,000 Men Will Stop Work in Coal Mines by Feb. 29 Unless Demands Are Met.

London, Feb. 13.—A conference of the representatives of the 800,000 coal miners in the United Kingdom held in London today confirmed the decision reached during the recent ballot to bring about a national stoppage of work in the coal mines on Feb. 29, unless in the meantime the mine owners accept the principle of a minimum wage for all men and boys employed underground. Upwards of 40,000 colliers employed in the mines in Derbyshire this morning handed in their notice to quit work and by Feb. 15 all the men employed in the mines throughout the country will have followed suit. There is still, however, a considerable body of opinion that a way out of the difficulty will be found before extreme measures are taken.

MUCH WORK PLANNED ON STATE HIGHWAYS
Million and a Quarter Dollars Will Be Spent in Wisconsin on Roads.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 13.—From information at hand, it is estimated that work on improved roads and bridges in Wisconsin next year will reach about $1,250,000 in value, and that at least five hundred and thirty towns in the state will be benefited. These figures were given by A. H. Hirst, acting state highway engineer, in an address on the work of the Wisconsin Highway commission before the Engineering Society of Wisconsin this afternoon.

There are seventy-one counties and about twelve hundred towns in the state of Wisconsin; four hundred and seventy-nine towns voted for road construction to the total amount of $400,000, and one hundred and twenty-three towns voted money for bridge work. The bridge money voted by the towns was $52,000. The total number of towns voting either road or bridge money was five hundred and eight, and in addition there were five counties, comprising forty-five towns, which voted as counties, and work in these counties will probably be done in at least two towns in each county. The above, so that work next year will be done in at least five hundred and thirty towns in the state. About three hundred and eighty-six miles of stone, gravel or shale roads will be built and about two hundred and forty-six miles of dirt road, the last class comprising sand, clay and other types of semi-permanent surfacing as well as ordinary grading work. In addition to this, there will probably be one hundred and fifty bridges of various sizes to be built, the total amount of work reaching about $1,250,000 in value.

Mr. Hirst said it is intended to continue practically the same methods in work under the state aid law as were used by the highway division of the Wisconsin geological survey during the past four years, and it is probable that every year the highway commission will be called upon to design or approve the design of, at least, $400,000 worth of state aid and county aid bridge work. In the past the inspection of construction has been left with the local authorities, and in general the work has been good, said Mr. Hirst. Under the state aid law the inspection lies with the county and will be done by the county highway commissioner or his representative.

"The good roads movement," said Mr. Hirst, "has now come to the point where the difficulty is not in securing state aid money for highway construction, but in supplying the demand for experienced road builders. Men from other states will not always prove satisfactory, as in most cases the other states are building a type of road much more expensive than Wisconsin will stand for. This is evidenced by the fact that during 1910 and 1911 the stone roads built under our plans in Wisconsin did not average over $3.00 per mile, grading included, while the roads in the eastern states will average $4.00 to $11.00 per mile. Much of the difference is due to the wider roads being built in the east and the use of bituminous macadam in quite a large percentage of their construction."

TO MAKE SWEEPING PROBE OF CANADIAN FREIGHT RATES
Board of Railway Commissioners Meets at Ottawa to Map Out Proceedings—Western Provinces Make Complaint.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 13.—Preliminary to a sweeping investigation which it is proposed to make into the freight rates charged by the railroads in the western provinces, the Board of Railway Commissioners met today to map out the line of procedure. The inquiry is expected to be the most important of its kind ever undertaken in Canada, and the importance of the results on the commercial and industrial interests of the west can scarcely be overestimated. The railway commissioners were prompted to begin the investigation by the receipt of numerous complaints alleging discrimination against Alberta and Saskatchewan in favor of Manitoba and also making general charges of excessive rates throughout the west.

JAMES J. HILL IS A WITNESS BEFORE STANLEY COMMITTEE
Declares That Report of Commissioner Smith on Ore Values is of No Value—Is Not An Expert.

Washington, Feb. 13.—James J. Hill told the Stanley steel trust investigating committee today that the report of the bureau of corporations compiled by Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith on ore values was not worth reading. He said he had gone over part of it and concluded it was of no value.

"Mr. Smith's report may have some facts," said Mr. Hill, "but his conclusions are so far from mine that I could not finish reading it." Representative Gardner of Massachusetts urged Mr. Hill to read the report fairly and then give the committee the value of his opinion. "I'm not an expert," said Mr. Hill. "Neither have I the time to study the report carefully. My opinion would not add the committee much. There was a time, years ago," he continued, "when those entire lands would not have brought one million dollars. That would be no criterion for establishing their present value. Fifty years ago Mr. Hill had figures showing the minimum rate of 25 cents a ton."

Mr. Hill said he knew some people had paid as high as 45 cents a ton on ore-lenses since the steel corporation went into the fields. Troops in Cities.
The quartering of troops in the cities instead of at the present army posts was urged before the House committee on war department expenditures today by Major George H. Shelton of the bureau of insular affairs.

To make such a radical change would effect an immense saving of money for army upkeep; that the troops would be more available and it would minimize the desertions. Representative Sizer of Pennsylvania, harking back to revolutionary days, suggested that the attractions of city life in Philadelphia destroyed the discipline of Howe's army. The conditions were different then," replied Major Shelton.

SENATE FIXES DATE FOR LORIMER REPORT
Committee Investigating Election Agrees to Take Up Report March 23.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The senate committee investigating the election of Senator Lorimer today agreed to take up on March 23 the consideration of a report to be made to the senate. The committee hopes to dispose of the matter that day.

Senate consideration of the case will be prolonged, Attorney Haney, representing Senator Lorimer, was given until March 1 to file a brief on the point that the Senator's eligibility to his seat had once been passed upon by the senate and therefore could not be considered a second time. He was given until March 15 in which to file a brief.

BASEBALL MAGNATES
MEET IN NEW YORK

Club Owners, Officials, and Managers of National and American Leagues
Will Arrange Season Schedules.

New York, Feb. 13.—The club owners of the National League, together with the organization officials and several team managers, were on hand bright and early today for the second session of their annual meeting, the first part of which was held in the morning. The sessions are held at the Hotel Breunlin, in this city, and will probably last until late tomorrow or Thursday. The magnates will adopt a schedule of games for the coming season and the rules committee will be kept busy with the consideration of several proposed changes. Open dates and the playing of postponed games are to receive attention and some action may be taken to change the size of the rubber slab on which the pitcher stands and to reduce the size of the spikes worn by the players.

American League Meeting.
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 13.—The baseball magnates of the American League are gathering in Chicago for their annual meeting tomorrow. Outside of business pertaining to schedules, there is to be nothing of much importance to receive attention. As the work of the schedule committee has already been inspected and approved by practically all of the club owners, the meeting probably will be a very short one.

TIGERS DEFEAT SOX
IN CLOSE CONTEST

Two Out of Three Games Won by Tigers in Bowling Match With Sox Last Night.

It was a hard race for the Tigers to defeat the Sox in two out of the three games played with the Sox at Hockett's alley last evening. The first game was won by a margin of four points and the second game went to the Sox by a substantial score. The Tigers put forth their best efforts in the last game and won by over eight points from the Sox who weakened perceptibly.

Feb. 13, 1912. The area of high atmospheric pressure that appeared yesterday north of the Lake region, has moved southward, and now occupies the greater part of the eastern half of the country. The area of high pressure that was on the north Pacific coast has expanded and now occupies the Rocky Mountain and southern Plains regions. These areas are marked by clear skies throughout their central regions. The barometric depression that has been shouldered off into the Gulf of Mexico. It has been attended by showers and thunderstorms in Texas. The areas of low atmospheric pressure over Canada have also been pushed off to the north, but continue to cause cloudy weather with more or less snowfall in the Missouri and Red River valleys and the northern Plains. In this vicinity the weather is likely to be unsettled with occasional snow flurries tonight and Wednesday. The temperature will rise slowly.

PRESS COMMENT.

Ready for Fight.
Deloit News: The selection of Congressman McKinley of Illinois, to manage the Taft re-election campaign leaves no doubt of the kind of fight that will be waged in favor of the president. Congressman McKinley is one of the shrewdest politicians in public life. He is resourceful, affable and altogether capable. He knows how to take money and is a good organizer. He is energetic and will leave no stone unturned to assure the re-election of the president.

Voting for Dead Men.
Rhineland News: La Follette is admittedly politically dead, but his followers got so used to voting for dead men, when trying to beat Taft, that they are still clinging to the departed.

hard fight.
Friday the first team of the Seniors will leave for Monroe, where they have a game scheduled for that night. From there they will travel to Albany where they have another game scheduled with the city team of that place. The Monroe team has been showing up in the shape this year and they have one of the best aggregations which they have had for several years. Nothing is known about the Albany team but they are reported good players.

"LITTLE MINISTER"
PLAYED AT MYERS

Well Known and Popular Scottish Plays Pleasant Attraction at Myers Theatre Last Night.

Adelaide Dalton again pleased a fair sized audience at the Myers last night playing the role of Dabbie in the old favorite story "The Little Minister," by Barrie. The scene of the play is laid in Scotland at a place called Throssil. The first act takes place at night in the Chiddam woods near Throssil and the Little Minister falls in love with a gypsy girl whom he introduces to a number of his acquaintances as his wife after saying her from the chutlows of some robbers. In the next scene the minister makes a call on old Nanny Webster and there meets the gypsy girl who confesses that she loves him after making him appear very ridiculous in the eyes of old Nanny. Act number four introduces a scene in Rhintoul castle where the plot thickens and the gypsy girl is discovered to be the daughter of Lord Rhintoul who often goes out for Lark and she is almost caught. As Lord Rhintoul's daughter she tells her father that she loves the Little Minister and the fabled lover plans with the Lord of the castle to destroy the minister's character. They remember the introduction of the gypsy girl as his wife and realize that this constitutes a formal wedding and the Lord takes his daughter to see them, forcing the minister to acknowledge his marriage. The play ends at the Manor of Rhintoul where the father realizes that his daughter was the gypsy girl who was now Rhintoul's wife. The end.

TO MEET KLAUS.

San Francisco.—On the afternoon of Washington's birthday, "Sailor" Petroskey will meet Frank Klaus, the Pittsburgh middleweight before the Humboldt Club. This marks the first appearance of a new promoter in boxing shows, Jack O'Connell, for years known on the diamond as one of the best umpires. Klaus is recognized as one of the best middleweights in the ring today and Petroskey is the best boxer in the local four round game developed during the year. He has the earmarks of a corner and his dashing, willing style has made him a general favorite wherever he has appeared.

Entered at the Postoffice at Janesville, Wis., as Second Class Matter, May 11, 1894.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Janesville and vicinity: Unsettled weather and probably storms tonight or Wednesday; slowly rising temperature.

TO PROSPECTIVE CANDIDATES.

The coming primary election is likely to put in the field a large number of candidates, as any man has a right to aspire to the office of either mayor or commissioner, who feels so inclined. It will be necessary for those men to get before the people, and for their information and convenience the Gazette publishes the following brief form of announcement which occupies about one inch of space. The charge for inserting this notice is 25 cents each issue, cash with order. No account will be opened with candidates.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for.....at the coming primary election, and solicit the support of the voters.

(Signed).....

The Gazette has no names to suggest, and will support no man for office before the primary election.

THE SITUATION.

The local situation as regards candidates for the office of mayor and commissioners remains the same. Many aspirants for office have appeared both for the office of mayor and commissioners and when the list is completed before the primaries there will be no dearth of candidates from which to select three men to conduct the affairs of the city in a businesslike manner. The Gazette has refrained from endorsing any candidate before the primaries and reserves the right to criticize and urge the election of the aspirants for office when the six names for whom the voters will cast their ballots at the April election are named. This field is open to all and all the Gazette hopes for is that the men nominated at the primaries will be of the proper calibre to make the selection of an able mayor and two good commissioners.

WHAT WILL HE SAY?

Just what Colonel Roosevelt will finally say when urged by the eight governors who will send in their petition that he announce himself as a candidate for the republican nomination, is hard to guess. There is not much doubt what he will say, but how, that is the question. Just stop and recall some of the utterances of this strenuous former President and see how he can consistently accept the "call." It will be a case of mastication of his own words—perhaps they may be better, too.

"On the 4th of March next I shall have served three and one-half years, and this three and a half years constitutes my first term. The wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I again be a candidate for, or accept, another nomination for President."—Theodore Roosevelt, November 8, 1904.

"I have not changed, and shall not change, that decision, this announcement."—Theodore Roosevelt, Dec. 11, 1907.

Of course the situation of Mr. Roosevelt now is somewhat different from what it was in December, 1907. Then he was chief magistrate of a country whose prosperity had been devastated by his folly. He knew it; everybody knew it; he knew everybody knew it.

Then Mr. Roosevelt was piteously proclaiming that all this havoc might be for our moral regeneration, and setting only looks of scorn for his pains. Then Mr. Roosevelt was trying to whittle to keep his courage up and making a mighty poor pucker of it.

Now things are different, but nothing has happened to change the soundness of the American democracy of Mr. Roosevelt's logic on Nov. 8, 1904. Only Mr. Roosevelt is going to out his words, and a nation waits to behold the extraordinary spectacle.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Fire which destroyed the building owned by the Bostwick Realty company and its contents, the Bassett and Echlin business company, caused one of the most serious losses that Janesville industry has felt for many a year. That the fire was confined to the one structure and did not spread to other buildings, perhaps wiping out the entire retail district of South Main street, or sweep across the river to the Janesville Machine company's plant, was due to the fact there was no wind and the confident work of the fire department in fighting the stubborn blaze. It was a civic misfortune, this fire, aside to the financial loss to both the Bostwick Realty company and the Bassett and Echlin concern. While the city is to be congratulated the flames did no further damage than was done, the two heavy losses have the sympathy of the entire community and it is safe to say that everything possible will be done to encourage the business company to reopen their factory at an early date as possible. The Bassett and Echlin company is too good an industry to lose and it is to be hoped their loss will not be severe enough to discourage them from continuing in business.

A POLITICAL BARBARIAN.

Under this caption the Brooklyn Daily Eagle prints the following editorial:

"Robert M. La Follette is in the papers in a way he cannot well like. He found or made the way himself, and the papers cannot be blamed for his mortification. That is due to what Artemus Ward, an underestimated philosopher, described as 'undertaking to say too much and saying it.'

"Strictly speaking, the Senator said the same thing several times. He did not use different words to say the same thoughts, as too often is the case with too many. He used the very same words, and as he spoke from manuscript, it is evident that he repeated his pages without knowing it. As he never realized this, and as he is a man whose hebraic is always indicated by language and never caused by 'liquor,' it is rhetoric and not truth which must be held to be responsible.

"The Eagle is sincerely sorry that the Senator suffered from nervous collapse, but the fact is removed from surprise. It is likewise true that the nervous collapse was unnecessarily brought about. It was due to too much speaking. The Senator's 'cause' broke down just as the Senator himself did. Both were the victims of too much iteration. He confounds the fact that he likes to hear himself with the impression that people equally like to hear him. The people do not. The few persons who do are not and do not represent the people. They only think they are and do. Their error is due to cerebral congestion, the complaint from which the Senator himself suffers—cerebral congestion and megalomania combined.

"Since the Senator's collapse, discovery of the cause of it has created sympathy for him among the kind-hearted and good-natured. He may not deserve the sympathy, but it is a credit to those who feel it, all the same. Many deserve credit for giving to others undeserved consideration. The generous and the magnanimous are not held to account because of the derelictions of the objects of their magnanimity. Uncle Toby is loved because he cared for the fly he let go. Files are not loved because Uncle Toby was considerate to one of them.

"A few deferred truths about Senator La Follette may as well as not be advanced during his convalescence. He is not a reformer. He is not a revolutionist. He thinks he is or has been both. He is mistaken. The people of the United States do not think he is or has been either. They regard him as a malignant. They do not regard him now as the leading republican of his own commonwealth. Once he was, but he has ceased to be. He ceased to be when the grade of civilization advanced in Wisconsin. He ceased to be when the discovery was made that he was both vindictive and demagogical.

"He accepted Senator Stephenson's money to get elected. He warned on Senator Stephenson for next using his own money to recollect himself. Moralists can rightly object to both Senators as the beneficiaries of financed politics. One, however, has no right to object to the other on that ground. The subtle pot and the black kettle are two of one kind. We are aware that La Follette is fluent and Stephenson is old, unlettered and only shrewd, but the parts the one has abused and the other the other does not possess here indicate a mental than a moral difference between them, with the element of sincerity and gratitude in favor of Stephenson.

"So far as the people of the United States are concerned Mr. La Follette is regarded as a man who knows we should have reciprocity with Canada and who knows that President Taft's present tariff reform position is right, but who opposes both for his interests and against his convictions. This is making men the judges of others than themselves, and may be wrong, but it is based on Mr. La Follette's reversal on these subjects of the conclusions he advances on cognate subjects by which votes in Wisconsin are not affected. The people of the United States so far as can be determined are persuaded that the Senator believes one way and votes and talks the other. No man as to whom that is believed has ever been elected President of the United States, whether democrat or republican, and none ever ought to be or probably ever will be.

"To perceive one's estimate of others is a way of finding the psychological revolution of one's self. Mr. La Follette's estimate of the venality of the American newspapers as a body is of itself a proof of his own moral venality, not of his believability by money, but of the balancing of his acts and speeches by considerations of loss and gain in votes. The whole-sale character of his press indictment indicates the retail sale of his mind, which rates a failure to support him as due to moral obliquity. He differs from me and therefore he has been corrupted," is the Senator's avowed conviction. Did he believe that, he would have it, he decorates the term 'insurgent' with laurels few of his fellow insurgents will covet.

"The impossibility of his nomination for President is apparent to all others. It is probably apparent to himself. His ability to exhaust patience was known in Brooklyn before he showed it in Philadelphia. He made a three-hour speech in Plymouth church, where the audience of thousands at the beginning dwindled to less than a few score before the close. He confirmed here the probably unjust impression that entrance in the Northwest is based on what is unbelieved in the middle states. His apprehension that advertisements reduce or chain editorialists in dollars and weeklies is an affecting confession that his Weekly has lacked advertisements and would like not to lack them hereafter.

"To study this man and his type is both educational and revolting. One thereby learns more of political abnormality and one is thereby depressed by the evidence that a considerable section of the republic is still given over to delusions in politics analogous to those in religion which make darkness Africa the challenge of missionaries but only the prey or the despair of those by whom belief in miracles has been abandoned."

THE PURPORT OF THE MOMENT

THE GROCERY STORE SYMPOSIUM.

Old man Purdy's got it sized up good and proper this year. There is no mistake about it, for from all that he can hear.

Just one man has got a clench upon the Democratic plum. And he'll get the nomination and it's certain for to come. Woodrow Wilson is the fellow that is going to make 'em dance. There are no two ways about it. No one else has got a chance.

Uncle Hezekiah Pribyl says that Old Man Purdy's wrong. And that along next summer he will have to change his song.

Judson Harmon is the fellow who has got the lead pipe clench. He's got it milled down tight, and with a good old-fashioned clench. Any fellow from Ohio's surely got the inside track. And Hezekiah says he'll never have to take it back.

Grandpa Hinks says both are wrong. He wants it understood. The nomination's sure to go to Oscar Underwood.

While Ansel Perilous says no sure as blackbirds all are dark. The nomination's bound to go to no one but Champ Clark. But Anny Hicks, who is an active Democrat fan, says he's got it straight that Carter Harrison's the man.

Old Ezra Harkins says he wants the bunch to understand. That Bryan is the only one in all this great broad land.

Who's got a look in on the thing. He'll get it sure as sin.

He's voted for Bill three times, and he'll do the same again. Each day they meet down at the store and through the matter out. But still there ain't one of 'em knows just what he's talking about.

The fellow that keeps bragging about his virtue hasn't had it very long.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

Any fellow that will leave the gold dust on his seegar while he smokes it, is the same kind of a fellow that will borrow a dress suit and wear it to a funeral.

Nobody knows just how a married couple can get along peacefully as well as do a man and a woman who have been married—about two weeks.

Thank Tammis is a good fellow and everybody knows it, except his wife. The fellow that invented the red rubber cherry for the saloon cocktail was a genius, but he hasn't got a thing on the fellow that invented the rubber oyster for the church social.

The True Booster. Rock County Danner: When one stands on the street corner and proclaims that his town is dead it is in order to ask whether or not he has done anything to give it life. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred such a question will get an answer in the negative. The true local patriot never attempts to run his town down or magnify its shortcomings. Rather does he seek to build it up in every wise and reasonable way to cause the shortcomings to disappear by the adoption of improvements that remedy the defects.

Earth's Core. At a meeting of a scientific society at The Hague Professor Wolcott asserted that his studies of the varying velocity of earthquake tremors, passing through the interior of the globe, lead to the conclusion that the earth consists of a central core of iron or steel, about 5,630 miles in diameter.

To the Rock County Telephone Subscribers of the Fourth and Fifth Wards

During the fire of the Bassett & Echlin building last evening the three cables leading from our exchange to something over 100 of the homes in the Fourth and Fifth wards were cut in two when the walls fell in.

We wish to say that we have on hand new cables and proper facilities to repair the damages within a few days.

We ask our subscribers to bear with us while the damage is being repaired. No expense will be spared and the work will be rushed.

Our competitor has taken advantage of our misfortune by putting a large corps of solicitors in the field, visiting our subscribers who are temporarily deprived of telephone service, urging them to quit us and become subscribers to the Bell Telephone System. From the tales they tell one would be led to believe that the Rock County Telephone System had been about ruined and would be unable to furnish service for a long time to come.

In contradistinction to the policy of our Bell Telephone friends (?) we wish to notify them that if they ever have the misfortune to have fire damage to any part of their Janesville plant, we will be glad to render them any assistance in our power, nor will we solicit their subscribers.

LARGE FIRM WIPED OUT BY FLAMES IN FIRE LAST NIGHT

BASSETT AND ECHLIN COMPANY
LOST HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS IN CONFLA-GRATION.

WILL START UP AGAIN

Had Their Own a High Wind Entire Business Section of the City Would Doubtless Have Been Destroyed.

S. B. Echlin, manager of the Bassett and Echlin company, stated this afternoon that plans were already under way for starting the business over again in the east building owned by the Hostwick Realty company, as soon as machinery and material can be secured and the building made ready for their occupancy.

In speaking of the fire Mr. Echlin said he could not understand how it started as everything was all right when the factory closed down at six. The insurance is about $80,000, and the loss estimated at $100,000, although definite figures can not be obtained until the safe, which is now in the ruins of the building, can be taken out.

Janesville today is awakening to the fact that it occupied last night what might have been the most disastrous fire in its history—a conflagration which, with a heavy south wind blowing, would have meant the destruction of the whole of the retail business district on South Main street, and if once started no one knows where it would have ended. A fire which might have cost the city millions and wiped out the heart of the city.

As it is, the fire of Monday night did damage which, roughly estimated, will entail loss of fully a hundred and fifty thousand dollars. It wiped out one of the city's best industries, the Bassett and Echlin company, completely destroyed a large factory building owned by the Hostwick Realty company, at the east end of the Court street bridge, and seriously damaged a second structure owned by the same company.

The loss to the Hostwick building will be approximately twenty-five thousand, for the one structure destroyed, and until the ruins cool and it is safe to enter and inspect the other building can not be estimated. This was covered partially by insurance, but not enough not to make the total loss quite heavy.

The entire plant of the Bassett and Echlin company is destroyed. Somewhere in the ruins of the still-smoking loss can not be estimated. This was covered partially by insurance, but everything is destroyed. The stock is entirely gone, the machinery a mass of tangled, twisted steel beyond hope of any salvage.

The insurance on this is approximately eighty thousand dollars, while the loss will total to considerably over a hundred thousand. Just at this time it is particularly heavy owing to the fact that most all of the spring orders were completed and awaiting shipment. Had the fire come a month later, when the shipments were made, it would not have been as severe. As it is now it is a total loss.

It was shortly after seven when the first alarm reached the fire stations, telephoned in from Nelson's livery. A few seconds later the box at the corner of Main and Court streets, No. 21, rang in and the entire department responded. Even before they reached the scene the flames had gained such headway that it would have been almost impossible to check them.

It is thought that the flames originated in the southwest corner of the basement, in the vicinity of the boiler room. They spread rapidly through the basement, having fine material to work on in the shape of the "knock-down" boxes in the shipping room, and thence up through the elevator shaft to the stories above.

The first lead of hose attached was at the hydrant directly across from the building on Court street. This was found frozen and a few moments delay was experienced until other adjacent hydrants could be tested and hose laid. Meanwhile the flames had gained headway and rose to the high heavens, illuminating the entire sky and visible from all parts of the city.

Chief of the fire department Klein immediately mapped out his campaign, not only to fight the fire in its present location, but to have apparatus ready to meet any emergency that might arise in the buildings spread to adjacent buildings. Five hydrants were used; one at Park street, near the jail; one at Court and Main streets; two at Court street; and one at River and Pleasant streets. To these seven leads of hose were attached two running into the big nozzle and the other five were used separately. To fight the blaze the chief had eighteen men from the department and eight or ten volunteers who placed themselves under the chief's orders.

In all, four thousand, five hundred feet of hose were used—all that Chief Klein thought available for the conflagration—and they were laid out so that they gave the full force of the water and stood up under the test in good shape. The big aerial ladder was used to fight the flames on the top of the second building owned by the Hostwick Realty company, which, fortunately, was empty and men were stationed on the adjacent buildings to put out any flying sparks that might otherwise have set fire to them.

It was a spectacular blaze. Viewed from a distance it looked as though the whole of the downtown district was ablaze, and the flames and curling smoke rose high into the air. Once in a while a few sparks could be seen falling about majestically, but the light was that of a huge pile of burning straw.

Viewed nearer at hand, one had to look up at flames and smoke—the flying sparks, the excited men and the belching, the interested crowd.

Janesville Chapter No. 69, will hold a regular meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 sharp, after which they will adjourn to the parlors for cards.

PERSONAL MENTION.

VERY FEW CHANGES
ON MARKETS TODAY

Shipment of Red Onions Received by day—Butter Still the Same This Week at 30c@37c.

Some of the dealers in town have a supply of red onions today which is not a common thing for this time of the year. They are a choice vegetable and many people like them better than some of the other kinds. Besides this there are no other changes on the market and things remain very quiet. Butter is still 37c which compared to the 10c@17c a pound which was the highest price in Janesville forty years ago, seems rather high. But when the thought of that forty-eight cent butter which was on the market not long ago comes to us we feel better about it. The prices today are as follows:

Vegetables.
Carrots—20 lb.
Parsnips—25c lb.
Potatoes—$1.20 bu.
Cauliflower—20c.
Green Peppers—5c each.
Squash—15c@20c.
Yellow Onions—6c lb.
Red Onions—6c lb.
Cabbage—6c@10c a head.
Lettuce—5c bunch.
Dwarf Celery—5c stalk.

Your Spinal Column Indicates the Condition of Your Health

If you are sick and have tried everything else with no results, why not try Chiropractic (spinal) adjustments and get well.

Chiropractic is a scientific and practical system for locating disease and for removing its cause by hand adjusting. The brain is the center of all power and sensation. The spinal cord is a continuation of the brain. Thirty-one pairs of spinal nerves are a continuation of the cord and are transmitted through the intervertebral foramina on either side of the spinal column, and intricately connected with the sympathetic nerve system. These nerves supply nerve force to all parts of the body. The brain is to the body what the dynamo is to the motor. The life giving currents are created in the brain and pass along the spinal cord and over the nerves to all parts of the body.

These nerves connect the organs with the brain and any pressure interfering with the passage of the nerve currents results in disease. Disease is a lack of life. When the vertebrae (spinal bones) are out of position (subluxated) they cause pressure on nerves and disease is the result. The Chiropractor removes this pressure by putting the vertebrae back in place and allows nature to send its full supply of nerve force to the organs and HEALTH IS THE RESULT.

SOUTHERN MERCHANTS
CONVENE AT ATLANTA

Will Discuss Betterment of Trade Conditions and Relation of Agriculture to Commerce.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 12.—Joined in a movement which has for its object the strengthening of the commercial independence of the South, nearly one thousand representative southern merchants assembled in this city today to confer regarding the betterment of existing trade conditions and to discuss various problems of interest and importance. The Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers' Association took the initiative in bringing the merchants together and will act as host to the visitors during their five days' stay in the city.

The relation of Southern agricultural interests to the development of commerce and manufacturing is the general subject selected for discussion. The reduction of the cotton average will be exhaustively considered, also the encouragement of diversified farming and the furtherance of the stock breeding industry. In addition, the merchants will discuss advertising methods, semi-annual clearance sales and numerous other matters relating to their daily business.

The initial session of the convention was held this morning in the assembly room of the Piedmont Hotel and was devoted to the work of organization. This afternoon the visiting merchants inspected a number of the large manufacturing and mercantile establishments of Atlanta. The business sessions will be resumed tomorrow morning and will continue until Friday. A notable feature of the gathering will be a dinner Thursday evening at which Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, will speak on the subject, "How Currency Reform Will Benefit the Merchants of the South."

PRESS COMMENT

The St. Paul Road Scandal.
Oakhurst Northwestern: Although the St. Paul railroad officials have given a prompt denial of the charges that graft to the extent of several million dollars entered into the Puget Sound extension of that company, the public, and especially the stockholders of the road, will, doubtless be inclined to demand something more assurance. Honest publicity with respect to the affairs of these great public service corporations is essential, not only for the protection of the investing public but to guard against intrigue and collusion on the part of those who handle the people's money and conduct their business affairs, through corporation organizations. Not long since it was conclusively shown that graft did enter into the operations of another big railroad system, the Illinois Central, and the people have not forgotten that scandal. It is to be hoped that the duplicate is not to be found in the affairs of the St. Paul road, but charges have been made with considerable circumstantiality, and the least the company can therefore do is to probe the matter with thoroughness and impartiality and let the public know the results.

These are bargain days. Read Gazette ads. and profit.

A Warning Against Wet Feet
Wet and chilled feet usually affect the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, and in grippe, bronchitis or pneumonia may result. Watch carefully, particularly the children, and for the racking stubborn coughs give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It soothes the inflamed membranes, and heals the cough quickly. Mrs. A. A. Swengel, Kroh, Wis., says: "I always give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to my children. It cures their coughs and colds and they like to take it." Badger Drug Co.

The Big Store Announces its Advance Display of Beautiful Hand Tailored, Stylish 1912 Spring Suits

The early arrivals form an impressive display of particular interest at this time. Women will find many new features. The best fashion ideas are brought out in these new 1912 Tailored Suits. Particularly attractive and becoming. Whipcords predominate—in wide and narrow wale, plain and two-tone effects, although we are showing some beautiful models in stripes, Mannish mixtures and serges.

The garments are superbly tailored and wonderfully fetching in their new color tones: soft greys, tans and blues—in the severely tailored models or those with clever touches of trimming of satin and buttons. Some of the novelties show collars and new wide cuffs of Bengaline Silk and Macrame Insertion, so fashionable this season. Some are collarless effects with rich trimming of lace and satin, others show the new tailored collar and low cut lapels of satin or serge. Most of the coats are cutaway effects and many of the skirts are cut high waisted, with new panel effects. Prices range$18.00 to $50.00

Special Notice During February

TO ENCOURAGE EARLY BUYING AND KEEP THE HANDS IN THE ALTERATION DEPT. BUSY, WE WILL OFFER ALL OUR NEW SPRING SUITS AT SPECIAL DISCOUNT PRICES.

COULD NOT SLEEP WITH ITCHING RASH

All Over Baby's Body, Head and Face.
Cuticura Soap and Ointment Used
Scratching Made Sores. Used
Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Have Had No Further Trouble.

"On July 27, 1909, we left Boston for a trip to England and Ireland, taking baby with us. After being in Ireland a few days a nasty rash came out all over his body. We took him to a doctor who said it was chicken pox, and gave us medicine for him. The rash cleared up, but a few days later a rash came out all over baby's body, head and face, at different times. It irritated, and he would scratch it with his little hands. The consequence was that it developed into sores, and we were afraid it would leave scars on his face."

"When we reached England we took baby to another doctor. He said his condition was due to change of food and climate, and gave me medicine. The rash got no better, and it used to itch and burn at night so bad that the child could not sleep. It was completely covered with it at different times. It was this time that my mother advised us to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for about nine months the places disappeared. There are not any scars, or other kind of marks. The baby is completely cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We have had no further trouble with baby's skin. Nothing stopped the itching, and allowed baby to sleep but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment."

(Signed) Mrs. Margaret Conn, 20 Huron St., Boston, Boston, March 12, 1911.
Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 14, Boston, for free sample of each with 32-p. book on the skin.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Stops Coughs, Whooping Cough, Croup, and All Small Coughs.

There is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly, and will quickly cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This remedy makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good remedy-made cough syrup for $2.00.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents) in a pint bottle, and add the sugar syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. It breaks up the cough and is slightly laxative, which helps cut a cough.

You probably know the value of Pinex in other throat troubles, sore throats, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in glucose and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this respect.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this remedy. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Here's Quick Relief From Cold in Chest!

Rub MUSTEROLE on your chest briskly, and you will be amazed at the blessed relief you will feel right away. It prevents pneumonia. MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and positively does not blister.

Thousands who have used MUSTEROLE will tell what relief it gives from Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Neuritis, Neuralgia, Headache, Constipation, Pileitis, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back, Joint Pains, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Chills, Pruritus, Itch, and Cuts (it prevents pneumonia).

For sale by leading druggists everywhere. Many of these display the MUSTEROLE sign (shown below) in their windows. MUSTEROLE comes in jars of two sizes, 5c and 50c. Accept no substitutes. If you order, send your check for 25c and we will mail you a jar postpaid.

The Mustero Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

"Had severe pain in chest and back. Used Mustero and by morning pain was all gone." (S) J. M. Douglas, Wilmington, Ohio.

THE EFFECTIVE LAXATIVE

Tastes Like and is Eaten Like Candy. In our experience in the handling of drugs and medicines, we believe we have never had experience with any remedy that gave such great satisfaction to our customers as our Rexall Orderlies. This remedy is not like any other laxative or cathartic. It contains all the good features of other laxatives but none of their faults.

Our own faith in Rexall Orderlies is so strong that we offer them to you with our own positive personal guarantee; that if they do not thoroughly satisfy you, you only need tell us and we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for them. Therefore, in trying them upon our recommendation you take no risk whatever.

Rexall Orderlies taste like and are eaten like candy. They do not grip, cause nausea, excessive looseness, or any other annoyance. They act so quickly that they may be taken at any time of day or night. They are particularly good for children, aged, or delicate persons. They are put up in convenient tablets in three sizes of packages. Prices, 10c, 25c and 50c.

Remember, Rexall Remedies can be obtained in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—Smith Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee St., Janesville, Wis.

COWLES' ANSWER TO PROTEST OF CITIZEN

Tax Commission Assistant Explains About Taxing the Copy of Work Done in Janesville to Madison.

In the following communication H. V. Cowles, of the state tax commission at Madison, writes an answer to the recent communication of J. J. Cunningham relative to the work of the assessment work done here. His letter is as follows:

Madison, Wis., Feb. 7, 1912.

Dear Sir: I have received a recent copy of the Gazette, in which Mr. J. J. Cunningham takes rather serious objection to a copy of the stenographic testimony being taken from the city of Janesville.

This article is hardly worth answering, but inasmuch as it is rather misleading, I simply wish to point out that a copy of the testimony taken before the Board of Review is now on file in the City Clerk's office and has been there since the adjournment of the board. The city paid for one copy at the rate of five cents per copy and received what they paid for. A copy of this testimony was taken for Madison where it will remain.

The fact that our friend can not find an express statute for this act should not be taken seriously even by himself. In appearing before the Board of Review he had occasion to observe that the procedure to be followed is not laid down in apple pie order in our statutes. Even court decisions and precedents are followed at times.

So will kindly point out to your readers that I personally took a copy of this testimony the same as any citizen would have a right to make a copy of any public record and that no original record of any kind whatever was taken from the office of the City Clerk.

If I may have a line or two more of your paper I would like to take this opportunity of personally thanking the people for the attitude they have taken toward the assessments engaged in the assessment. The average citizen seldom stops to realize the very unpleasant and nerve racking position of an assessor in a case of this kind. Even a assessor is human at times and appreciates very highly the courtesy of a property holder who—when he has a grievance—will approach him in a fair minded and business like way and not attempt to brow beat and lower his value by any unreasonable means at hand.

Six years experience in taxation work has given me an opportunity of meeting many people on a great many different propositions and I desire to say without any attempt to flatter—honorable—that people in Janesville have on the whole been most courteous and fair.

I believe I express the desire of all the assessors when I take this method of expressing our appreciation.

H. V. COWLES.

INCREASE IN RATES HEAVY ON OLDER MEN

Members of Local Woodman Camp De-love Rise in Insurance Rates Should Have Been Gradual.

Discussion at the regular meeting of Florence Camp No. 356, M. W. of A., on the question of the rise in the life insurance rates of the order as voted at the meeting of the head camp in Chicago, brought out the order members, especially of the order should have been made more gradually in order to lighten the burden on the older men in the lodge.

Mr. Starr, Dr. J. V. Stevens of this city and J. H. Hubbard of Beloit, delegates to the national meeting, spoke at the meeting last night. A communication from the head camp was read at the beginning of the business session advising the members "Not to get excited, but to wait until the entire plan be made public, and then to reason it out fairly."

Every member will receive a complete explanation as soon as it can be put into proper form and printed.

Some of the reasons assigned for the rise by the men who spoke last night were:

That each member was not paying his share of the cost, as is shown by the large deficit; that the cost should be determined by the age of the insured and the rate he pays; that the total contributions should equal the risks carried.

MILTON CLUB GAVE A LINCOLN PROGRAM

Women's Village Improvement Club Held Interesting Meeting at Home of Mrs. M. A. Borden.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milton, Feb. 12.—The Women's Village Improvement Club, held a very interesting meeting Monday, at the home of Mrs. M. A. Borden, in honor of Lincoln's birthday. The music was in charge of Mrs. J. C. Anderson, who sang a solo, entitled, "Farewell to the Death of Lincoln," and the club joined in singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "The Battle Cry of Freedom."

Mrs. L. C. Burdick gave "Glimpses of his Early Home Life" and Mrs. Shaw told in an interesting paper of "His Political Career. Several members related pithy anecdotes and responses to roll call were quotations from Lincoln.

The house was profusely decorated with flags and bunting and a large picture of the martyred President stood on an easel draped with the national colors. After the program a social hour was enjoyed, and dainty refreshments were served.

J. R. Hunsen has joined the "back to the soil" ranks and will engage in farming at Dundee, Ill., March 1. His family will remain here until a later date.

J. H. Tracy is on the sick list and J. McLean also.

Rev. Dr. Randolph preached at Second Sunday, and next Sunday he will speak at the M. E. church in Lake Geneva, morning and evening.

ELECT J. F. CARLE AS VICE PRESIDENT

Janesville Man Named Second Officer of District Association I. O. O. F. at Beloit Yesterday.

J. F. Carle of this city, was elected vice president of District Association No. 33 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the Association convention held in Beloit yesterday.

W. L. Grant also of this place, was honored with the office of treasurer. L. L. Patton of Beloit was elected president. A. W. Kelly of Milton, warden, and B. D. Treadway of Beloit, secretary. C. J. Hegarty, Orfordville, marshal. Delegates from Janesville, Evansville, Milton, Milton Junction, Orfordville, and Edgerton attended the convention.

A HEALTHY, HAPPY OLD AGE

May be promoted by those who gently cleanse the system, now and then, when in need of a laxative remedy, by taking a desertspoonful of the ever refreshing, wholesome and truly beneficial Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which is the only family laxative generally approved by the most eminent physicians, because it acts in a natural, strengthening way and warms and tones up the internal organs without weakening them. It is equally beneficial for the very young and the middle aged, as it is always efficient and free from all harmful ingredients. To get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine, bearing the name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache do not neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to go to a man's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

CHAPTER XIV.
The Singular Attitude of a Safety-Pin.

Behind the curtain there was an indescribable crowd. Artists, sculptors, dancers, singers, chorists, subscribers were all asking questions, shouting and hustling one another. "What became of her?" "She's run away." "With the Vicomte de Chagny, of course!" "No, with the count!" "Ah, here's Carlotta! Carlotta did the trick!" "No, it was the ghost!"

And a few laughed, especially as a careful examination of the trapdoors and boards had put the idea of an accident out of the question.

And this noisy throng, three men stood talking in a low voice, and with despairing gestures. They were Gabriel, the chorus-master; Mercier, the acting-manager; and Remy, the secretary. They retired to a corner of the lobby by which the stage communicated with the wide passage leading to the foyer of the ballet. Here they stood and argued behind some enormous "properties."

"I knocked at the door," said Remy. "They did not answer. Perhaps they are not in the office. In any case, it's impossible to find out, for they took the keys with them."

"They were obviously the managers, who had given orders, during the last act, that they were not to be disturbed on any pretext whatever. They were not in to anybody."

"All the same," exclaimed Gabriel, "a singer isn't run away with, from the middle of the stage, every day!"

"Did you shout that to them?" asked Mercier, impatiently. "I'll go back again," said Remy, and disappeared at a run.

Thereupon the stage-manager arrived.

"Well, M. Mercier, are you coming? What are you two doing here? You're wanted, Mr. Acting-Manager."

"I refuse to know or to do anything before the commissary arrives," declared Mercier. "I have sent for Mifford. We shall see when he comes!"

"And I tell you that you ought to go down to the organ at once."

"Not before the commissary comes."

"I've been down to the organ myself already."

"Ah! And what did you see?"

"Well, I saw nobody! Do you hear, brought him one of the spot he would

Where had Christine gone? What witchcraft had snatched her away before the eyes of thousands of enthusiastic onlookers and from the arms of Raoul the angel who really carried her up "to rest."

Raoul, still standing up in the amphitheater, had uttered a cry. Count Philippe had sprung to his feet in his box. People looked at the stage, at the count, at Raoul, and wondered if this curious event was connected in any way with the paragraph in that morning's paper. But Raoul hurriedly left his seat, the count disappeared from his box and, while the curtain was lowered, the subscribers rushed to the door that led behind the scenes.

The rest of the audience waited amid an indescribable hubbub. Every one spoke at once. Every one tried to suggest an explanation of the extraordinary incident.

At last, the curtain rose slowly and Caroline Fonta stepped to the conductor's desk and, in a sad and serious voice, said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, an unprecedented event has taken place and thrown us into a state of the greatest alarm. Our sister-artist, Christine Dana, has disappeared before our eyes and nobody can tell us how!"

CHAPTER XIV.
The Singular Attitude of a Safety-Pin.

Behind the curtain there was an indescribable crowd. Artists, sculptors, dancers, singers, chorists, subscribers were all asking questions, shouting and hustling one another.

"What became of her?" "She's run away." "With the Vicomte de Chagny, of course!" "No, with the count!" "Ah, here's Carlotta! Carlotta did the trick!" "No, it was the ghost!"

And a few laughed, especially as a careful examination of the trapdoors and boards had put the idea of an accident out of the question.

And this noisy throng, three men stood talking in a low voice, and with despairing gestures. They were Gabriel, the chorus-master; Mercier, the acting-manager; and Remy, the secretary. They retired to a corner of the lobby by which the stage communicated with the wide passage leading to the foyer of the ballet. Here they stood and argued behind some enormous "properties."

"I knocked at the door," said Remy. "They did not answer. Perhaps they are not in the office. In any case, it's impossible to find out, for they took the keys with them."

"They were obviously the managers, who had given orders, during the last act, that they were not to be disturbed on any pretext whatever. They were not in to anybody."

"All the same," exclaimed Gabriel, "a singer isn't run away with, from the middle of the stage, every day!"

"Did you shout that to them?" asked Mercier, impatiently. "I'll go back again," said Remy, and disappeared at a run.

Thereupon the stage-manager arrived.

"Well, M. Mercier, are you coming? What are you two doing here? You're wanted, Mr. Acting-Manager."

"I refuse to know or to do anything before the commissary arrives," declared Mercier. "I have sent for Mifford. We shall see when he comes!"

"And I tell you that you ought to go down to the organ at once."

"Not before the commissary comes."

"I've been down to the organ myself already."

"Ah! And what did you see?"

"Well, I saw nobody! Do you hear, brought him one of the spot he would have fallen down in a fit." "Oh, all this isn't natural; and our managers are going mad! . . . Besides, it can't go on like this! I'm not used to being treated in that fashion!"

Suddenly Gabriel whispered: "It's another trick of O. G.'s." Remy gave a grin. Mercier a sign and seemed about to speak . . . but, meeting Gabriel's eyes, said nothing.

However, Mercier felt his responsibility increased as the minutes passed without the managers' appearing; and, at last, he could stand it no longer.

"Look here, I'll go and hunt them out myself!" Gabriel, turning very gloomy and serious, started him.

"What do you want me to go down there for?" "You're right!" said the stage-manager, frantically pushing his hands through his rebellious hair. "You're right! But there might be some one at the organ who could tell us how the stage came to be suddenly darkened. Now Mauchair is nowhere to be found. Do you understand that?"

Mauchair was the gas-man, who disappeared day and night at will on the stage of the opera.

"Mauchair is not to be found!" repeated Mercier, taken aback. "Well, what about his assistant?"

"There's no Mauchair and no assistant! No one at the lights, I tell you! You can imagine," roared the stage-manager, "that that little girl must have been carried off by somebody else; she didn't run away by herself! It was a calculated stroke and we have to find out about it."

And what are the managers doing all this time? . . . I gave orders that no one was to go down to the lights and I posted a fireman in front of the gas-man's box beside the organ. Wasn't that right?"

"Yes, yes, quite right, quite right. And now let's wait for the commissary."

The stage-manager faded away, shrugging his shoulders, fuming, muttering insults at those milkops who remained quietly squatting in a corner while the whole theater was topsy-turvy.

Gabriel and Mercier were not so quiet as all that. Only they had received an order that paralyzed them. The managers were not to be disturbed on any account. Remy had violated that order and met with no success.

At that moment he returned from his new expedition, wearing a curious startled air.

"Well, have you seen them?" asked Mercier.

"Monchamrin opened the door at last. His eyes were starting out of his head. I thought he meant to strike me. I could not get a word in; and what do you think he shouted at me? 'Have you a safety-pin?' 'No!' 'Well, then, clear out!' I tried to tell him that an unheard-of thing had happened on the stage, but he roared, 'A safety-pin! Give me a safety-pin at once!' A boy heard him—he was holding a box behind him—with a safety-pin and gave it to him, whereupon Monchamrin slammed the door in my face, and there you are!"

"And couldn't you have said, 'Christine Dana?'"

"I should like to have seen you in my place. He was foaming at the mouth. He thought of nothing but his safety-pin. I believe, if they hadn't "Backward! You have seen our managers walk backward? Why, I thought that only crabs walked backward!"

"Don't laugh, Gabriel; don't laugh!" "I'm not laughing," protested Gabriel, looking as solemn as a judge.

"Perhaps you can tell me this, Gabriel, as you're an intimate friend of the management: When I went up to M. Richard, outside the foyer, during the Garden Interval, with my hand out before me, why did M. Monchamrin, hurriedly whisper to me, 'Go away! Go away! Whatever you do, don't touch M. Richard! Am I supposed to have an infectious disease?'"

"It's incredible!" "And, a little later, when M. de La Borderie went up to M. Richard, didn't you see M. Monchamrin fling himself between them and hear him exclaim, 'M. l'ambassadeur, I entreat you not to touch M. le directeur?'"

"It's terrible! . . . And what was Richard doing meanwhile?" "What was he doing? Why, you saw him! He turned about, bowed in front of him, though there was nobody in front of him, and withdrew backward!"

"Backward?" "Backward," also turned about; that is, he described a semi-circle behind Richard, and also walked backward!"

And they went like that to the staircase leading to the managers' office; backward, backward, backward! Well, if they are not mad, will you explain what it means?"

"Perhaps they were practicing a figure in the ballet," suggested Gabriel, without much conviction in his voice.

The secretary was furious at this wretched joke, made at no dramatic moment. He knit his brows and contracted his lips. Then he put his mouth to Gabriel's ear:

"Don't be so silly, Gabriel. There are things going on for which you and Mercier are partly responsible."

"What do you mean?" asked Gabriel.

"Christine Dana is not the only one who suddenly disappeared tonight."

"Oh, no, no!"

"There's no nonsense about it. Perhaps you can tell me why, when Mother Girly came down to the foyer, just now, Mercier took her by the hand and hurried her away with him?"

"Really?" said Gabriel. "I never saw it."

"You did see it, Gabriel, for you went with Mercier and Mother Girly to Mercier's office. Since then, you and Mercier have been seen, but no one has seen Mother Girly."

"Do you think we've eaten her up in the office; and any one passing the office can hear her yelling, 'Oh, the scoundrels! Oh, the scoundrels!'"

"At this point of this singular conversation, Mercier arrived, all out of breath.

"There!" he said, in a gloomy voice. "It's worse than ever! . . . I shouted, 'It's a serious matter! Open the door! It's I, Mercier, I heard footsteps. The door opened and Monchamrin appeared. He was very pale. He said, 'What do you want?' I answered, 'Some one has run away with Christine Dana.' What do you think he said? 'And a good job, too!' And he shut the door, after putting this in my hand."

Mercier opened his hand; Remy and Gabriel looked.

"The safety-pin!" cried Remy.

"Strange! Strange!" muttered Gabriel, who could not help shivering. Suddenly a voice made them all three turn round.

"I beg pardon, gentlemen. Could you tell me where Christine Dana is?"

In spite of the seriousness of the circumstances, the absurdity of the question would have made them roar with laughter, if they had not caught sight of a face so sorrow-stricken that they were at once seized with pity. It was the Vicomte Raoul de Chagny.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

LINCOLN'S JOURNEY TO WASHINGTON.

By A. W. MACY.

In these days of rapid railway transit it seems remarkable that it should have taken President-elect Lincoln and his party twelve days to make the journey from Springfield, Illinois, to Washington. Of course the fact that it was a speech-making trip accounts in large part for the lengthy schedule, as it does also for the circuitous route—from Springfield to Indianapolis, to Cincinnati, to Columbus, to Pittsburg, to Cleveland, to Buffalo, to Albany, to New York, to Philadelphia, to Harrisburg, to Washington, a distance of 1,700 or 1,800 miles. Then there were no good sleeping cars in those days, and the party traveled only by day, stopping over at night in the larger cities. The presidential train was a short one: the engine, tender, one baggage car and one passenger coach. There were innumerable stops along the way, where people gathered by thousands, anxious to see and hear the man who was to guide the destinies of the nation during the next four years. At Harrisburg there was a change in the program. A plot was discovered to assassinate the president-elect while passing through Baltimore, so he returned to Philadelphia by special train, and went through Baltimore in the night, arriving at Washington ahead of time.

Steady, consistent, month after month advertising is what makes a business grow. Spurt advertising or spasmodic advertising is like a short winded horse—it never wins a race.

Nothing Interesting.
A southern lady came to Washington the other day on a visit. The congressman called at her hotel early one morning. As he was about to leave she asked him if there was to be anything interesting in the house that afternoon. "I'm afraid not," he said, half apologetically. "You see I will be detained in a committee room most of the day."—Washington Correspondence to New York American.

Nothing New.
"To paraphrase the old gag about gratitude," said the boarding house philosopher, "patience is a lively sense of omission to come."

FOR A LONG LIFE

Those Interested, Please Read
Fresh air and exercise, with proper food and a sufficient amount of sleep, are the essentials.

Under such a regime of living, germs cannot develop, and many diseases are prevented.

Should the system require a tonic, take only such as you know their ingredients—such as Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cod's liver, with all the useless grease eliminated and a tonic, iron added, happily blended in a mild, medicinal wine.

For this reason Vinol is regarded as one of the greatest body builders and invigorators for aged people. It invigorates and builds them up, and keeps them up.

We sell Vinol with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction the price will be returned. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

"Our Personal Guarantee to all Skin Sufferers"

J. P. BAKER.

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up trade by always advising our patrons right.

So when we tell you that we have found the remedy and that we stand back of it with the manufacturer's iron clad guarantee, backed by ourselves, you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell all the well known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or other, we want you to try a full size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And, if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin, takes away the itch, the stinging, and the cures all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thyroid, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

THE TRAMP
(By Howard L. Rann.)
THIS tramp is a social outcast who has no one to guide his erring footsteps except the town marshal. The life history of the average tramp is full of pathos and cold victims. Some tramps are well educated and know how to handle a saw buck, while others are so ignorant that they can't read an Australian ballot without the aid of a $2 bill. The tramp is usually a gifted conversationalist and can talk intelligently upon any topic except manual labor. When a housewife brings up this subject, in a delicate and delicate about way, the tramp feels several kinds of disability. Including weak lungs and the shaking palsy.

There is nothing that will reduce the temperature of the tramp quicker than to be introduced to a card of plain oak or requested to yield himself to the embrace of a wire carpet heater. The tramp never has to have his memory examined for flaws or defects in workmanship and material. He will remember to life's last lingering hour the face of the hardened and unsympathetic citizen who met him at the back door in 1884 and kicked him directly underneath the goatee with so much enthusiasm that he had to live on soup for the rest of the summer. Likewise, he never forgets the habit of the clinging bull pup with teeth which have to be pried open with a garden rake, or the treacherous girl who smooths out his wrinkles with a flatiron. There is a fraternity among tramps which serves a high and lofty purpose, as it steers the membership away from the home of the night watch and directs their feet to the abode of some tender-hearted female who is short on nerves and long on mustard pies. The tramp never keeps anybody waiting on Saturday night for their turn at the bath tub, as he does most of his bathing in a box car or in company with a consignment of beef cattle which are journeying to that bourn from whence no traveler returns.

Literal.
"Do I take this train to New York?"
"No, sir; the engineer will attend to that."

INCOME TAX AND Mortgages

Under the Wisconsin Income Tax Law now in force the mortgages and bonds I sell are exempt from general taxation.

The income tax is 00 cents on each $1000.00, 6% mortgage for the first $1000.00 of income above exemptions. A married man's $1200.00 exemption equals the income on $20,000.00 worth of 6% mortgages. It is very evident the average investor, who buys these mortgages and bonds, will have no tax to pay on them.
